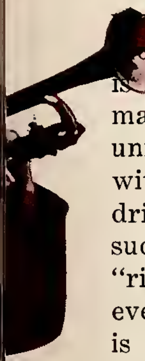
Campion Jesuit High School

Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin

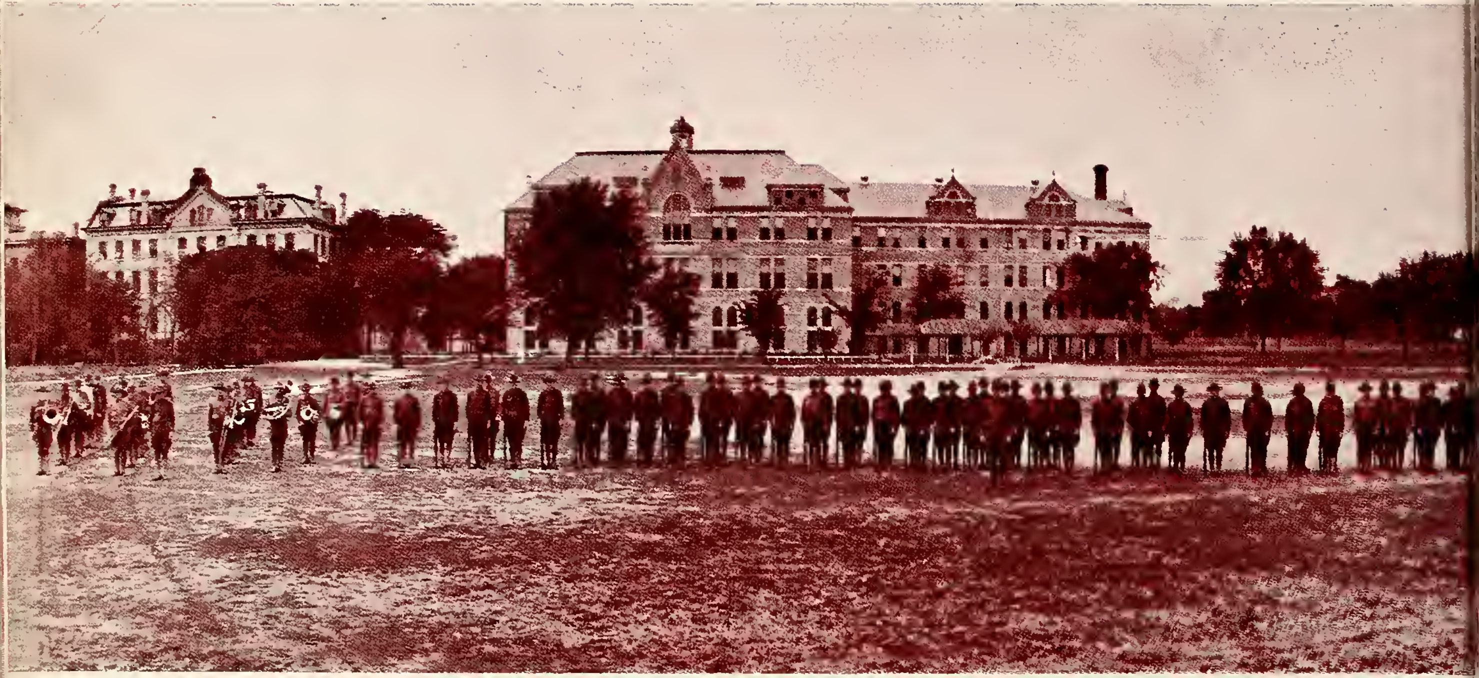
40th Anniversary of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps



Buglers at attention, gold trumpets glistening in the early morning sun, clear crisp notes fading into the morning stillness, the Stars and Stripes fluttering gently, 500 hands snapping to salute, 500 cadets pledging again their patriotism to America — thus does reveille revive the 40-year old spirit of military at Campion on a Monday morning at 6:55. For Monday is ROTC drill day. After reveille the cadets march in ranks to Mass, continue wearing their uniforms during morning classes and assemble with their 9.5 pound M1 Rifle at 12:40 on the drill field. For two hours cadet officers bark such commands as "column left, march" or "right shoulder, arms" as squads, platoons, and even companies drill. Climax of each drill period is the impressive Retreat Parade when to the martial music of the ROTC marching band the entire battalion passes in review. During the week in two class periods students learn map reading, military tactics, weapon assemblage, exercise of command, etc. All cadets must yearly pass marksmanship tests firing from the four basic positions of prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing. For the more talented, the select drill and rifle teams give precision demonstrations on special occasions and compete with other schools. Nor is military all drill — the gala pre-Lent Military Ball with dates from home and in the colorfully decorated dining hall is the big social event of the year.

From 1919 to 1959 Campion ROTC boasts colorful record of accomplishments

Lawler, Kostka, Campion Halls in 1919.



Back in 1919 when Campion was both a college and high school and the campus showed a yawning gap between Campion and Marquette Halls, Campion became one of the first schools in the nation to offer military training. Realizing its value from watching the 231 student inductees of the short-lived SATC (Student Army Training Corps) among the college students the fall of 1918, far-seeing Fr. Albert Fox, S.J., president, petitioned the Army to establish a Reserve Officers Training Corps. The Corps was organized Nov. 1, 1918, into a senior section for college men and a junior section for high school students, and held its first official drill Tuesday, Jan. 28, 1919. Those hardy pioneers drilled for an hour Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday afternoons plus two 45-minute military instruction periods weekly. Thus was born ROTC at Campion.

The history of ROTC at Campion is one of progress and accomplishment. The first cadets drilled in olive drab uniforms with leather leggings and campaign hats, shouldering British Enfield rifles. In 1924 cadet officers sported sabers and Sam Brown belts. Six years later the Springfield M1903 rifle was introduced. In 1934 new uniforms of slacks and blouses with blue lapels became GI. Then in 1949 the M1 Garand rifle and in 1950 the Eisenhower jacket brought elegance and modernity to the battalion. Federal inspection beginning in May, 1925, and the fabulous Military Ball in 1950 have become the traditional annual highlights of the military department.

The accomplishments of the past forty years, both of the corps and of individuals, have been spectacular. Beginning with 1929, the Battalion has won honor ratings and the right to wear the red star every year except one. The drill team took 2nd and 1st in 1936 and 1938 in the state ROA drill competition. The rifle team won 1st in 1931 and 2nd place in 1936 in the 6th Corps (now the 5th Army) matches and 12th in 1936, 8th in 1938 and 1940, and a sparkling 3rd in 1953 in the William R. Hearst Matches in competition with all ROTC high schools in the country. The ROTC marching band won 1st in the 1936 district competition, played over a coast-to-coast broadcast from Villa Louis in 1942, and took 1st in the Wisconsin School of Music in 1952.

The record of Campion ROTC men in the service of their country is a glorious one. They merited 156 special American decorations: 1 Distinguished Service Cross, 11 Silver Stars, 3 Legions of Merit, 17 Distinguished Flying Crosses, 3 Soldiers Medals, 38 Bronze Stars, 38 Air Medals, 5 Army Commendation Ribbons, 30 Purple Hearts; and 10 special foreign decorations. Brig. Gen. John P. Henebry, class of 1936, the youngest ever to become a general, merited the Distinguished Service Cross (second highest military award given), as well as the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Air Medal. The late Col. Gregory J. Kessinich '14, invented the bazooka, a portable rocket launcher which is used for knocking out tanks, and for 30 years was chief of the patent section of Army Ordnance in Washington. Campion especially cherishes the memory of 65 of her sons who died in service for their country, and in particular, the first chaplain to die in World War II, Lt. Aloysius Schmitt, '28, at Pearl Harbor.

Symbol of military excellence at Campion is Capt. Joseph Elliott, or simply "Sarge" to hundreds of former students. He served Campion as sergeant from 1934-42 and as PMS&T from 1944-6. He was famous for training crack drill teams and coaching winning rifle teams.

Before a festive Mothers' Day crowd of parents and friends, the entire battalion passes before the reviewing stand. The ROTC marching band leads the way followed by Company A and Company B with Company C out of sight.

Lt. Aloysius H. Schmitt, '28, Chaplain

Lt. Schmitt, the first chaplain killed in service during World War II, was awarded the Navy and Marine Corps Medal posthumously, Oct. 31, 1942. He was cited "for distinguished heroism and sublime devotion to his fellow men while aboard the USS OKLAHOMA during attack on the United States Pacific Fleet in Pearl Harbor by enemy Japanese forces on December 7, 1941." The citation asserted that his magnanimous courage and self sacrifice were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service.

Our theme . . .

THE 40TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE FOUNDING OF THE RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS AT CAMPION RECALLS TO OUR MIND THE SOLDIERLY TRADITION OF OUR CAMPION EDUCATION . . .

. . . the soldierly origin and spirit of our Jesuit teachers received from their founder, the soldier-saint Ignatius, and symbolized in their motto, AMDG.

. . . the soldierly spirit captured in the title we proudly call ourselves, the Red Knights, recalling as it does the noble qualities of chivalry of old.

. . . our twofold soldierly goal in life, to become dedicated leaders for our Church in Christ's army and patriotic Americans for our country in her needs.

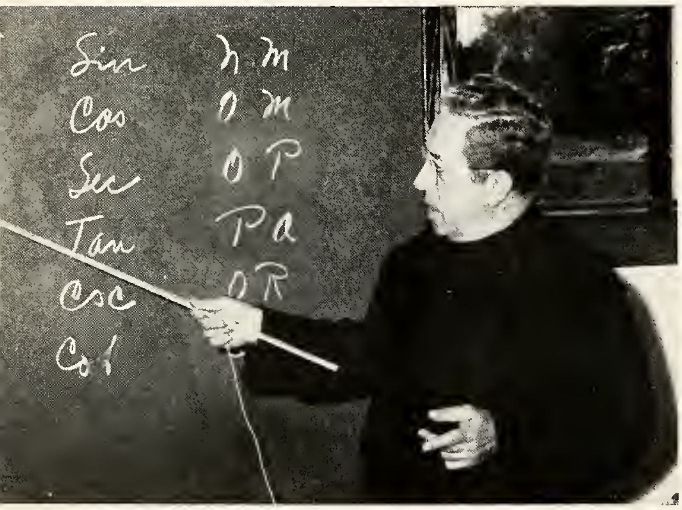
Campion proudly honors 100

Rev. Edwin Hipschen, S.J.

Prof. Sidney de Ranitz

Br. Henry Eakin, S.J.



Father Hipschen, dean of Campion mathematicians, teaches seniors solid geometry and trigonometry.

Comes the snow, Br. Eakin rises early to clear sidewalks and roads for Campion students.

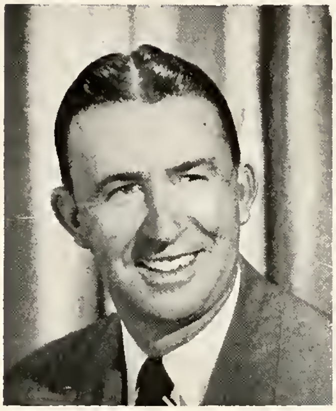
Junior counselor and familiar campus figure, Father has a smile for all.

Photographer par-excellence, Father covers all sports events for the Knight.

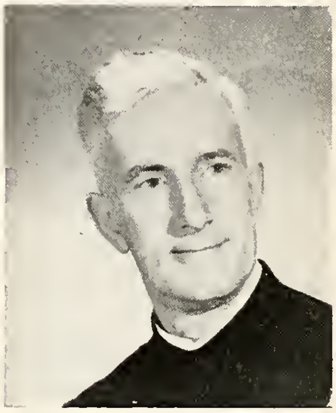
Springtime, and Brother uses bike to supervise far-flung campus cleanup.

years of outstanding and dedicated service

The five "twenty-year" men pictured here have achieved an enviable record of accomplishment and devoted service. Rarely can a school honor at one time so many men possessing such varied talents in such diverse work. Mathematician Father Hipschen, Music-teacher and composer Prof. de Ranitz, Caretaker Brother Eakin, Physician-surgeon Dr. Farrell, and Registrar Brother Daley — each has served Campion well during the past 20 years. The Knight staff offers its congratulations and thanks for your dedication and inspiration.



Dr. Thomas Farrell, M.D.



Br. Robert Daley, S.J.

An avid sports fan, Dr. Farrell attends the assorted aches and sprains of students and athletes.

College transcripts, grades, report cards, school records, correspondence — Brother Daley handles all.

Any season, Brother, his smile, and his red truck are familiar scenes.

Friend of two decades of Campion families, Brother soon knows all frosh.

Brother generously aids faculty by daily stenciling exams, notes, etc.

Unique music program is credit to "Prof"

Prof. de Ranitz has composed over 30 organ selections.

Organ students practice daily in Music Hall rooms.

ROTC marching band is invited to many festivities.

Seventy students taking private music lessons, a 44 member ROTC marching band, a 36-piece concert band, a bi-annual musical extravaganza, numerous state Glee Club and band awards, over one-quarter of the entire student body engaged in music — such is the unique record of Campion's Music Department and a tribute to the tireless work and enthusiasm of Prof Sidney de Ranitz, Campion's Director of Music.

"Prof," himself a versatile musician but especially a master of the organ and the composer of 30 organ selections, teaches every instrument from drums to guitars and pianos to tubas. But his love is the organ. Over 50 students take organ or piano one or two half-hour lessons weekly and practice a half-hour daily. Thus the Music Hall with its 16 enclosed practice rooms flanking a large band area hums with activity.

Prof. de Ranitz' 20 years at Campion have been profitably busy. Since 1939 he has given an estimated 12,600 private lessons to about 500 boys, 17 of whom played professionally both as students and after graduation. He has given various music theory courses. In Wisconsin music festivals, the Glee Club has won seven 1st place citations, the Band seven 1st place marching and musical awards. But his most publicized accomplishments have been the gigantic bi-annual concerts he plans and produces each spring for over 2,500 Mothers' Day weekend guests. The most outstanding have been "Fantasy in Brass" in 1940, "Holiday Inn" in 1945, "Pipes and Drums" in 1946. "Hello Neighbor" in 1948, "Coloramic Musicale — from Bach to Bop" in 1956, and "A Night of Stars" in 1958.

Upper right: Dramatic entrance up the main aisle of the Caliph in the "In a Persian Market" number of the 1958 "Night of Stars." Prof. de Ranitz is directing the white-turbanned orchestra. Middle: Colorful panorama of elaborate four-level stage, six organs, concert orchestra, Glee Club directed by Fr. David Brehm, S.J., (on steps), in the "Victor Herbert Favorites" from a "Night of Stars," and part of the 500 plus audience. Lower right: Eerie setting for the "Fifteen Men on a Dead Man's Chest" number by the Glee Club with Bob Zwaska at the organ and one of the 30 color slides playing on the giant screen.

" . . . the soldierly origin and spirit of our Jesuit teachers . . . "

. . . is summarized in two pictures: (above) of Ignatius of Loyola, the dashing Spanish nobleman and fierce soldier-captain, his leg shattered by a cannonball at Pamplona, still clothed in his noble's finery, reading the instrument of his conversion, the Lives of the Saints, and beginning to formulate the dream of a greater soldier's conquest for God; and (right) of the Latin words, Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam, For the Greater Glory of God, which became the ringing battle cry of this soldier of Christ and of the soldierly religious order he created, the Company of Jesus. Our Jesuit faculty, from priest to scholastic to brother, campaign for Christ in the footsteps of their soldier-founder Ignatius and of Jesuits like missionary St. Francis Xavier, the North American martyr-saints, 20th century Mexican martyr Fr. Pro, and explorer Fr. Marquette—all under the banner of AMDG.

Rev. J. B. Corrigan, S.J., President

"Man of Vision" aptly describes Campion's president. The new student residence planned and brought to completion by him is the first step in the Campion of the future. Fr. Corrigan's duties are to care for the Jesuit community, to decide issues of school policy, and to guide the parents' organizations. Yet with all his responsibilities, he has a smile for everyone.

Administration admirably achieves goal of

Rev. William J. Doran, S.J., Principal

Master of all things scholastic, Fr. Doran makes out syllabi, arranges daily schedules, advises the teachers, and keeps the students working hard. Much of his time is devoted to discussing colleges with the seniors. The smiling, quiet-spoken principal finds time to follow Campion's athletic teams with great interest.

Rev. James V. O'Connor, S.J., Ass't. Principal

The meanest man alive—that's some students' view of the Dean of Discipline. His duty is to maintain order and mold character in impulsive teen-agers—a duty which demands unceasing vigilance and occasional penal action. Actually, it takes real love to punish, and deep down the students realize it.

Rev. Frank J. Carey, S.J.

Remember your first contact with Campion? Chances are Fr. Carey dropped in and told you a story—a story about you, life, and Campion. Most of the year he travels the Mid-West recruiting students, showing films of Campion, and giving entrance exams. He is also Alumni Director.

giving back "a man"

Rev. Paul J. Murphy, S.J. and Rev. Eugene E. Zimmerman, S.J., inspect blueprints of new residence hall. Both priests spent long hours on the building committee. As treasurer, Fr. Murphy handles tuition accounts, students' spending money, and arranges for transportation to and from school. Fr. Zimmerman generates quiet efficiency and friendliness as superintendent of grounds and buildings and minister of the Jesuit community. He also oversees all workmen, buys the food, and selects the weekly films.

Good luck in all your endeavors.
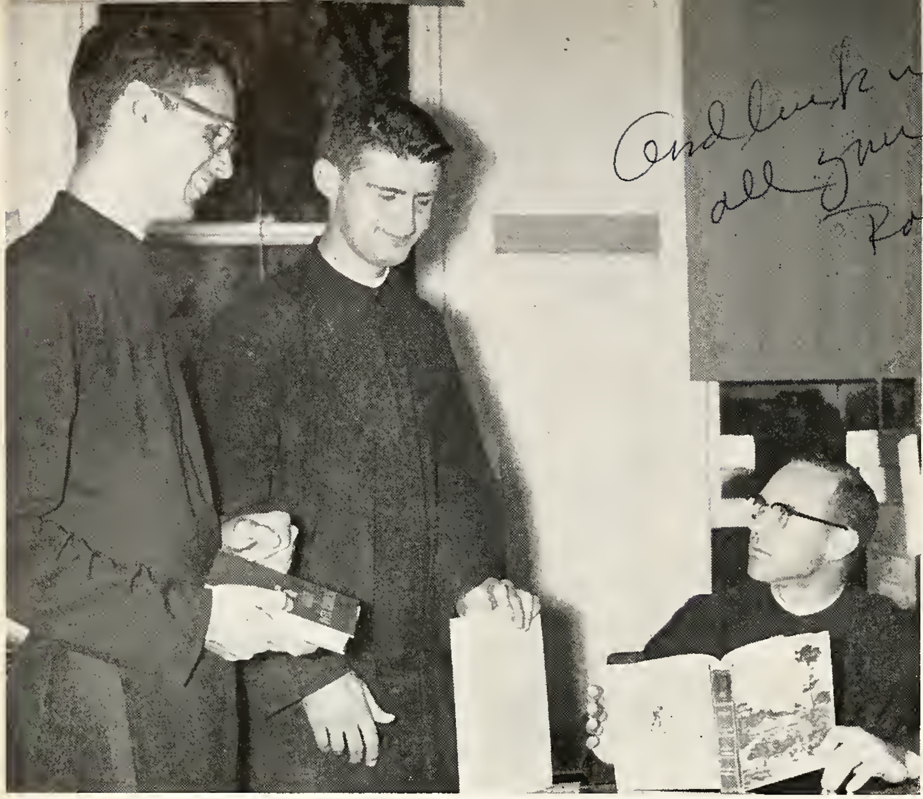
Robert Hart S.J.



Classicists Mr. John W. Wambach, S.J., and Mr. Robert P. Hart, S.J., feign interest as Mr. Thomas G. Ryan, S.J., sells them the value of Spanish. These senior division scholastics comprise the upper-class language department. Mr. Wambach teaches freshman and senior Latin and junior Greek. The seniors study Latin, Greek, and Sociology under Mr. Hart. Mr. Ryan teaches Spanish to the juniors and seniors.

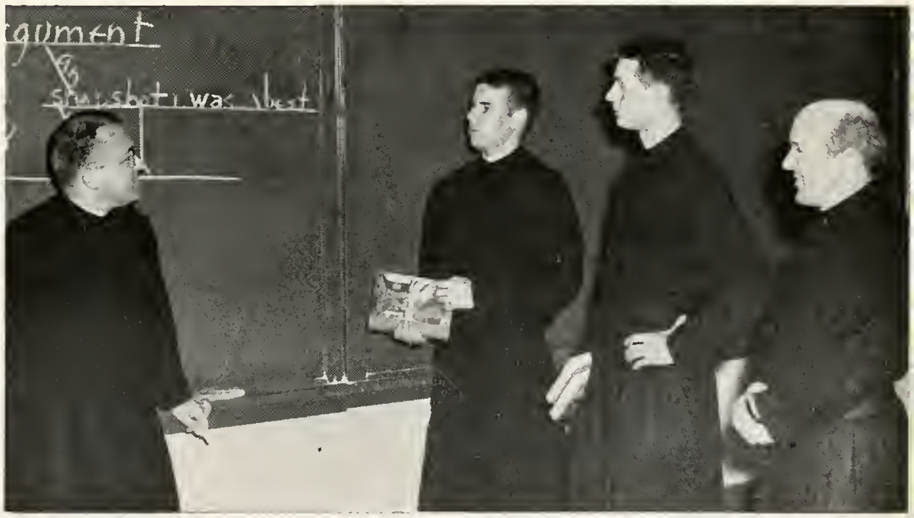
Classical and

The underclass Latin department: Rev. Floyd A. Brey, S.J., Mr. Greg F. Lucey, S.J., Rev. Carl E. Zachman, S.J., Mr. Timothy J. Howard, S.J., and Rev. Joseph W. Poeckes S.J. These sober gentlemen spend their year cramming Latin into the underclassmen. A newcomer, Fr. Brey drills the freshmen in vocabulary and grammar. Scholastic Mr. Lucey, a Campion grad of a few years back, tries the other side of the desk on the sophomores. Fr. Zachman, the grand old man of the classics, makes freshman Latin vital and counsels juniors. Mr. Howard, who spends his free time directing the campus radio station, tries to make Caesar and Cicero tolerable to his sophomores and juniors. Father Poeckes, a former senior div. scholastic at Campion and present director of the Testing Program and the Diagnostic and Remedial Reading Department, teaches sophomore Latin.

The Campion English Department, upperclassmen division: Rev. Robert H. Millmann, S.J., points out illustrated explanation of "how to use the library" to critical confreres, Rev. Jerome E. Breunig, S.J., Rev. Joseph F. Eagan, S.J., and Rev. Edward S. Sthokal, S.J. Fr. Millmann teaches junior English, moderates the school paper, and tirelessly sends news releases on all Campion activities as Publicity Director. Fr. Breunig teaches junior English and freshman Religion as well as coaching freshman debate. The seniors are all familiar with Fr. Eagan, who tutors them in English and Religion, guides the yearbook's fortunes, counsels seniors, and coordinates the Campion sodalities. Fr. Sthokal taught senior English and Religion and counselled seniors until departing at the semester to begin retreat work at the Jesuit Retreat House in St. Paul.

modern languages form scholastic foundation

Language, the use of words, is the essential tool of thinking and of self-expression, oral or written, and the key to the wisdom and enjoyment of past ages. All Campion students take four years of English grammar, composition, and literature and two years of Latin; the classical course takes four years of Latin and two years of Greek while others take four years of Latin without Greek or merely two years of Spanish.



Underclass English teachers, Rev. David W. Brehm, S.J., Mr. David D. Schmidt, S.J., Mr. Theodore J. Rynes, S.J., and Mr. Mathias G. Martens, S.J., ponder the art of sentence diagramming. These are the men who lay the ground-work of a successful high school education. Fr. Brehm teaches sophomore English and Religion and directs the choir. Mr. Schmidt, head prefect of junior division, teaches freshman English and moderates freshman Sodality. The sophomores learn the skills of analysis, composition, and public speaking in English and Speech classes under Mr. Rynes. The whole school feels his influence as dining hall prefect. Mr. Martens, junior division prefect, exercises pedagogical skill in his freshman English classes.

All-important religion,

The truly educated man must know the laws of physical universe, learn the lessons of history, be aware of society's problems today, and grasp the essential meaning of life itself. To this end, the Campion student studies physics and chemistry; introductory and advanced algebra, plane and solid geometry, and trigonometry; American, world, and European history; sociology, economics, and military science and tactics. Integrating all these subjects is religion, the study of God and His Church, which Campion men pursue four periods weekly.

The military department, Capt. Lewis E. Alexander, M/Sgt. Edward P. Zenz, M/Sgt. Theodore F. Ziegler, and M/Sgt. Paul A. Pinard pose before classroom topographical map. Capt. Alexander, the top military brass at Campion, teaches seniors weapons and tactics. Sgt. Zenz is in charge of the armory. Sophomores learn army history and customs and first aid from drill team director Sgt. Ziegler, while Sgt. Pinard teaches juniors map reading and tactics and coaches the rifle team.

Scientists, Rev. John M. Scott, S.J., and Mr. Joseph E. Lally, S.J., display their paraphenalia. Fr. Scott, prolific writer and author of Wonderland, essays on physics, teaches juniors physics. Mr. Lally teaches seniors chemistry and rules senior div as head prefect.

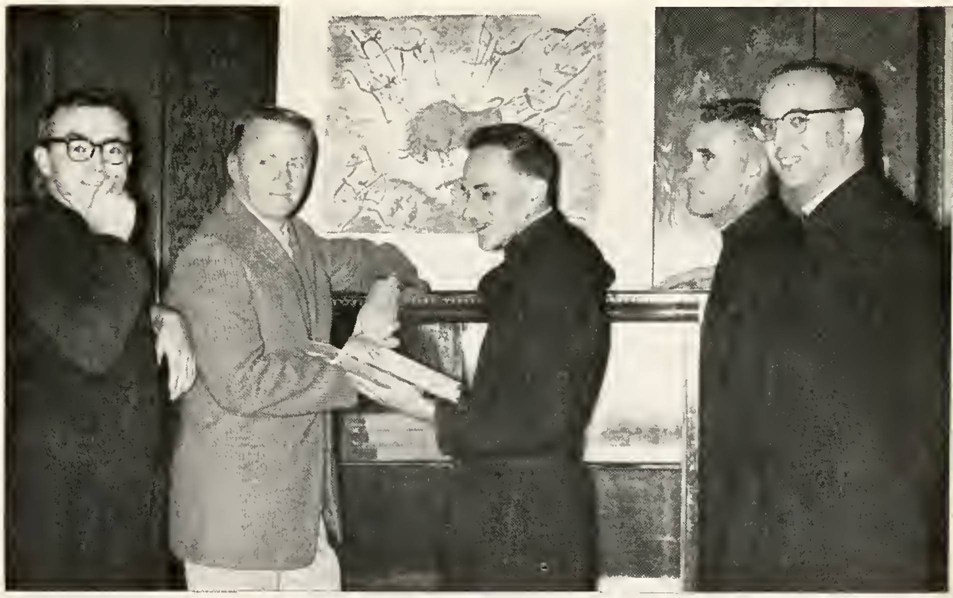
sciences, history fill out Jesuit curriculum

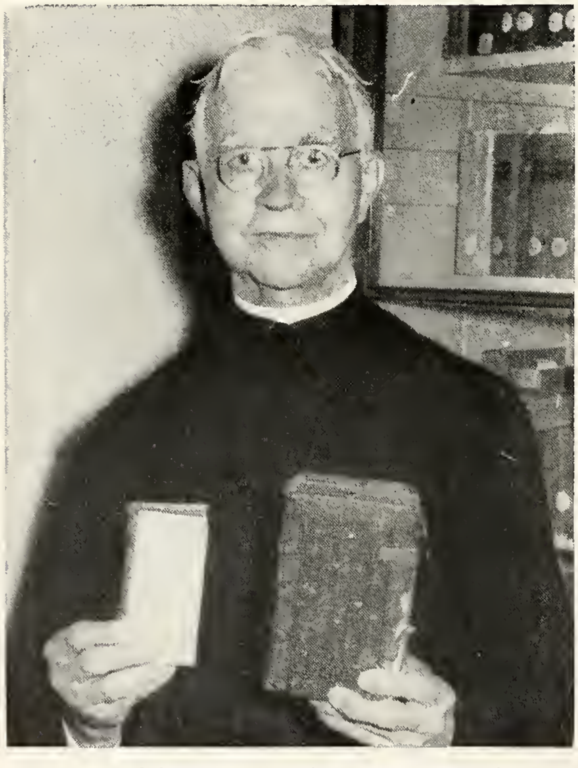
Youthful religion department teachers, Rev. Daniel J. Higgins, S.J., and Rev. Edward J. McCarthy, S.J., listen to department head, Rev. Norbert C. Eberhardt, S.J., comment on origin of Jesuit Order. Fr. Higgins teaches sophomore religion and speech and moderates the Masquers. Freshmen and seniors are guided in religion by Fr. McCarthy, who also directs Campion sports' fortunes as Athletic Director. Fr. Eberhardt teaches all of junior religion and reigns as baron of Marquette Hall. These men are the most important teachers at Campion.



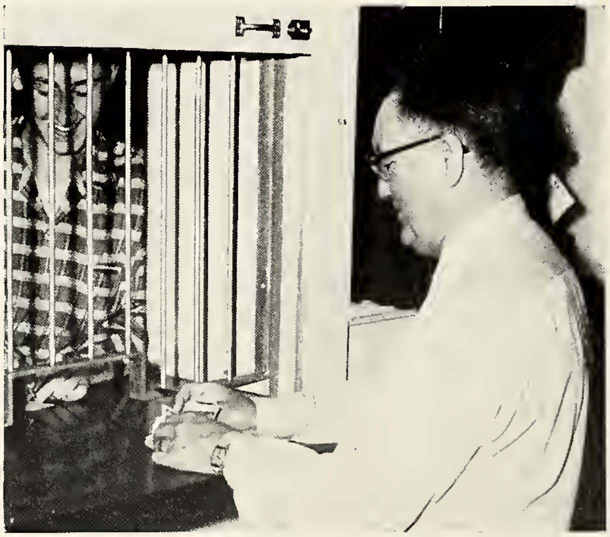
Five eminent historians, Mr. R. Thomas Golden, S.J., Mr. James O. Peterson, Rev. Frank J. Aspenleiter, S.J., Rev. Walter H. Halloran, S.J., and Rev. Thomas A. Hoffman, S.J., pose before sketch of the vanishing American Buffalo. Mr. Golden teaches sophomore history and prefects junior division. Coach Peterson makes history live for the juniors and awakens seniors to life's realities in economics class. Fr. Aspenleiter drills freshmen in world history from his own popular text, Western Civilization. He also teaches freshman religion. Fr. Halloran teaches sophomore history and religion and helps Mr. Peterson in coaching. Fr. Hoffman, a newcomer this year who has taken over as dean of Campion Hall and as moderator of speech activities, teaches freshman history and Latin.

Rev. Robert F. Tallmadge, S.J., diligently looks after the spiritual welfare of the Jesuit community and of the students.

Brothers William M. Stritch, S.J., Stanley J. Staber, S.J., and Paul J. Kempker, S.J., take a well deserved break from the day's labors. Bro. Stritch works full time in the Bursar's office while Bro. Staber supervises the workmen and upkeep of the buildings, and Bro. Kempker cares for the sacred vessels as sacristan and helps in the laundry.



Archivist and historian emeritus, Rev. Augustine Siebauer, S.J., displays two 300 year-old Kilmer Library rare books. Fr. Siebauer, who keeps active tutoring German and touring the campus with visitors, is 60 years a Jesuit this year. CONGRATULATIONS!



"How about an advance on next week's allowance?" Ass't. treasurer Paul F. Glynn smilingly turns him down.

Efficient secretary Miss Charlotte DuCharme and painstaking Mr. J. F. Daley accomplish yearly mammoth paper work connected with the alumni organization.

Bro. Harold T. Stockley, S.J., and Bro. Robert J. Greene, S.J., check stock at Campion book store. Bro. Stockley caters to the student body by supervising the bookstore and cafeteria. Tailor Bro. Greene makes cassocks for Wisconsin province Jesuits and helps in the bookstore.

Veteran librarian Miss Florence Mulheim and her new assistant Mrs. Leo A. McGinley make an efficient team.

Teamwork of many produces Campion men

With its near 600 population, Campion is a city in itself. To keep this community functioning, there exists a corps of loyal and devoted men and women. Pictured here are but a few who comprise this team: the spiritual father, Jesuit brothers, the librarians, the financial and clerical staff, and the medical department.

Mrs. J. F. Glennan, Dr. T. F. Farrell, and Mrs. G. C. Mathews prepare to meet the day's rush of patients. Resident nurses Mrs. Glennan and Mrs. Mathews are on 24-hour a day duty ready to aid sick students. Dr. Farrell sees patients every morning at the infirmary.

Honorary Athletic Director, Coach William S. Hoffman is an avid Campion fan. He coached with unusual success from 1911 to 1952.

" . . . the soldierly spirit of our proud title
the Red Knights . . . "

A fearless red knight on a charging steed — such is the symbol of what a Campion senior soon to graduate and to take his place in the world as a Campion man should be. The red stands for the martyr's blood shed by Blessed Edmund Campion, fearless English Jesuit martyr-priest, and for the qualities and achievements of this scholar, speaker, and writer. The knight points to the chivalric virtues of courage, courtesy, generosity, respect for women, and loyalty to God and country even in face of great obstacles — medieval virtues sorely needed in the twentieth-century world. The senior "Men of the Year" here pictured (right), who attained special leadership and achievement in various areas of Campion life, are to us a symbol of these knightly qualities.

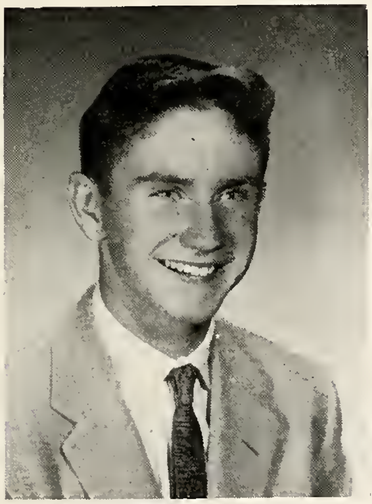
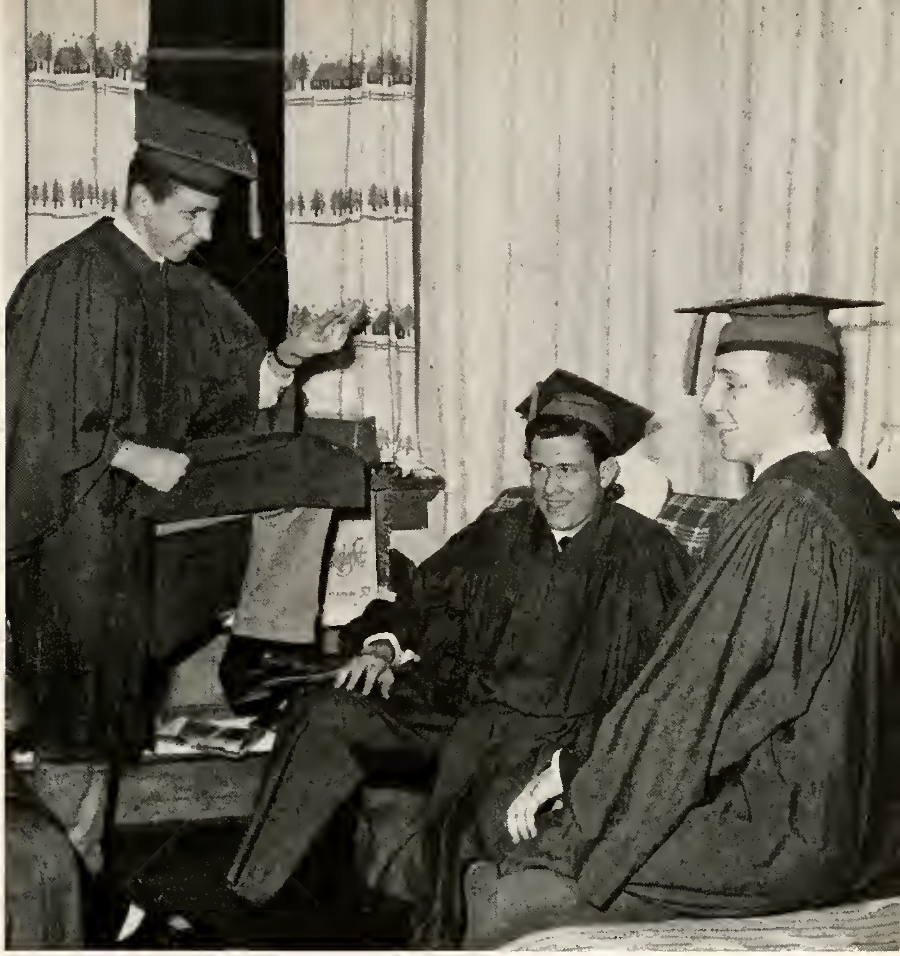
Robert E. Zable



James R. Zant



Four years of hard work have gone by. Exams and senior week have brought them to a glorious conclusion. League games, smoker breaks, mail calls, homestyle dinners, jug—they're all things of the past now. Soon they will be reduced to mere memories of happy times gone by. We sit around and talk, admire each other's caps and gowns, and tell about future plans for college. But most of all we talk. We enjoy the last few precious moments of never-to-be-forgotten friendships and talk out the little time we have left as Campion students. Tomorrow we graduate!

Two flags — the American with its storied stars and stripes symbolizing the freedom and responsibilities of democracy, and the Papal with its triple tiara and double keys signifying Christ's divine authority given to His successors on earth, the Roman Pontiffs, — summarize the noble life-goal of Campion students to become outstanding American citizens and dedicated Catholic men. To achieve this exalted vocation, the carefully-planned, tradition-rich "total" Campion education strives to train the "whole man" — intellectually, spiritually, socially, and physically. This four-phase training is accomplished in the classroom, by a daily spiritual life, by extra-curricular organizations, and in varsity and intramural sports. The student body at daily Mass receiving their God in Holy Communion (right) is the integrating element in Campion's "total" educational program.

God and the Mass, the beginning and ". . . I offer Thee all my prayers, works, joys, and sufferings of this day . . ." Each day begins with morning prayers.

Education is a hard word to put your finger on. Yet a thorough education is every student's goal. So to assure parents of "getting back their man," Campion employs a four-way education: spiritual, intellectual, social, and physical. Living this education day by day is the full-time job of every Campion student.

When at 6:35 a.m. the rising bell is hammering out its last defiant stroke and 550 Campionites are rolling out of bed, Campion's spiritual education is beginning. Each student starts his day with God by assisting at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. Here he can erase mistakes of yesterday through Confession and accept God's help to do better today through Holy Communion. These privileges climax his daily life with Christ, but by no means end it; for Campion's spiritual training is a twenty-four hour operation. At any time a student can approach a priest for Confession or counseling or drop into chapel for a visit.

This round-the-clock spiritual life is the keystone of Campion education. It binds together all the ingredients that fashion the Campion man.

our prayers, works, and sufferings into joys and inspires us to work and pray during the day ahead.

. . . class and homework

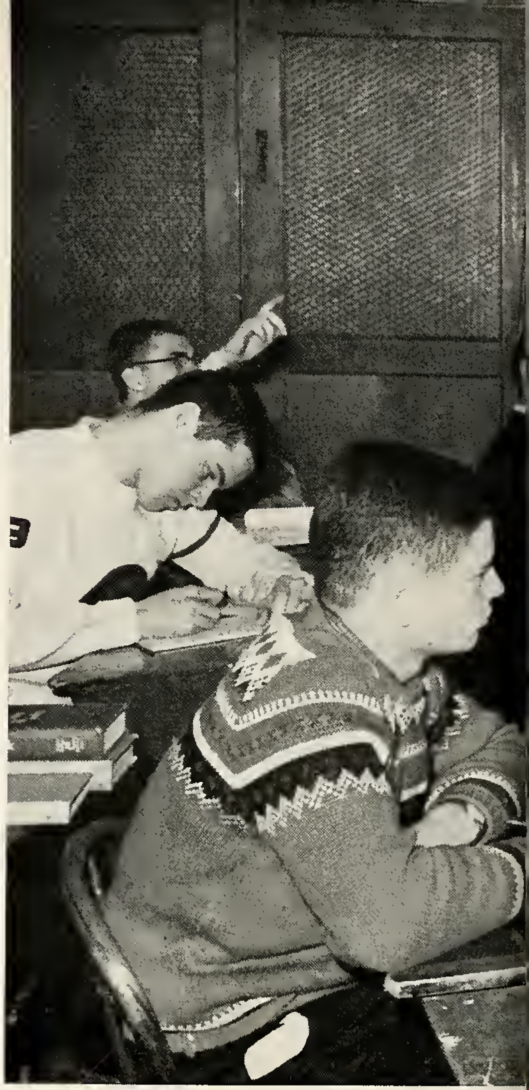
Thirty hours! Eighteen hundred minutes! This is how much time a Campion student spends weekly within the four walls of his classroom. Mountains of scribbling that he calls "notes" and scores of questions fired at his teachers mark this intellectual side of his Jesuit training. His studies cover a great deal of ground too. They are anything from classical Greek and Latin to scientific physics and "chem," from difficult geometry and "trig," to practical military and sociology. But all of these "brain twisters" have the same purpose. They play leading roles in a 400-year tradition of Jesuit education that has stood the acid test of time. It is a balanced liberal arts education that aims for linguistic-scientific advancement and that draws out the very best in its pupils by reaching for a triple goal: clear thinking, self-expression, and the appreciation of noble beauty. And the Campion academic education has still another feature: it is college preparatory. Through the curriculum it offers and the study habits it teaches, this education trains Campion students for any college course and the demanding work ahead. That 97% of all Campion grads go on to college is proof that here is an educational system that gets results.



The classroom in all its glory is more than

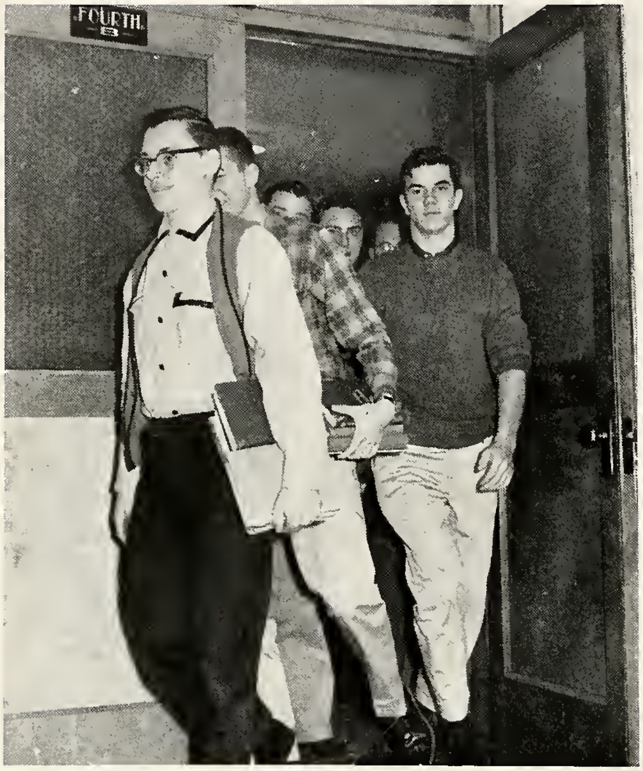
. . . companionship of friends in all



At 2:25 Campionites take off for greener pastures with the amazing speed of students everywhere.

Once in every Campion day there comes a glorious moment: the moment when classes let out. When that bell rings, all classroom doors on campus are thrown wide open. School's out! Let the fun begin! For Campion is not just lectures and notebooks: it is far more. For us, Campion is one big family of men, 500 strong. And once the textbooks have been filed away, we "learn" by relaxing together and enjoying each other's friendship. We gossip about "that Latin test and that lit quiz." We tell each other about Sue and Pat and Joy over and over again. We share our food from home together, join our extra-curriculars together, and occasionally even get into trouble together. Bull sessions, recreation, and lasting friendships mark this social education Campion offers us; by it, we learn to think of others and to live with them. For by living with 500 people our own age, we just can't help but "learn" from each other by means of having fun together and this companionship is one of our fondest memories.

Hi-fi, letters from home, and bull sessions take over as the center of interest after another day of classes has been completed.

"A sound mind in a sound body"—this was the one principle upon which the ancient Greeks based their education system. This principle has a part in Campion's education too. Up to 2:30 p.m., Campionites have been developing a sound mind; but now they turn their attention to a sound body. When a student goes out to play that "league game," he is taking part in the complete varsity and intramural sports program that Campion provides. At 7:00 p.m. the campus settles down for an evening of study. Books are cracked to prepare for tomorrows's tests, and themes are written to the tune of humming typewriters. An hour and a half of such mental anguish ensues, but it is interrupted by the 8:30 bell which ushers in the quickest twenty minutes in a Campion day--the smoker break. This joyful interlude is dedicated to three new "r's" relaxation, recreation, and revelry. But as it is with all good things, smokers come to an end and everyone scoots back to his desk for another forty minutes. Letter writing and catching up on that novel are the chief pastimes of this last study period of the day. The last envelope has been hastily addressed and the last chapter hurriedly read when the 9:30 bell summons everyone to night prayers. After the priest's blessing, weary students glady welcome over eight hours' sleep. So ends a Campionite's day.

Yes, education is a hard word to define. But Campion's four-way education, spiritual, intellecttual, social, and physical, is a complete education. It thoroughly molds and trains its students with great results. The Campion student of today is the Campion man of the future.

"Studies serve for delight, for ornament, and for ability. . . . They perfect nature . . . ." So wrote in the year 1612 the father of the English essay, Francis Bacon, in his essay on the value of a liberal education called Of Studies. His very quotable words headlined in these underclass pages are applicable to the various stages of a Campion education. The juniors as they approach senior year see that studies are not drudgery but give enjoyment, polish one's personality, and fit him for a life career.

With this new realization, the juniors distinguished themselves for spirit and accomplishment. Zamierowski, Hubbard, and Holloran were elected class officers; Benso, Zamierowski, and DeMeyer waged a year long race for scholastic supremacy; Reedy, O'Hara, and Hubbard starred on the football squad with Hubbard winning all-diocesan honors; Overbeck and his junior staff led the highly successful Junior Project magazine drive; Zamierowski gained a first string berth on the debate team; Mallon, Miller, and Dave Carey were standouts in varsity basketball with Reedy and Hubbard as top reserves; and Overbeck and Sheridan took over as 'ette co-editors.

work combine to produce fruitful Soph year

"Read not to contradict . . . ; nor to believe and take for granted; but to weigh and consider." Popular myth has it that a sophomore is a "wise fool," a cross between an impulsive child and a mature senior. Francis Bacon's advice might well find a response from the soph; for his teachers try to curb his high spirits with reading that demands thought, judgment.

This new treatment brought out the best in the sophs. Scholastically, Redmond, Bennett, Bernardon, Shreves, Kisha, and Lachance fought for top position on the honor roll. Pioneers Kisha, Redmond, Bernardon, and Gannon enrolled in a new advanced mathematics course which combined geometry and advanced algebra into two semesters rather than the usual two years. Athletically, Mike Cavataio and Lardner earned varsity football letters while JV football standouts were Hilt, Braithwaite, Mangan, Hoffman, McGargill, and Swain. The late season surge of the JV basketball squad was due to Nestler, Cavataio, Holm, and McGargill. Leaders of this active class are Redmond, president; Lardner, vice-president; and Knauf, secretary.

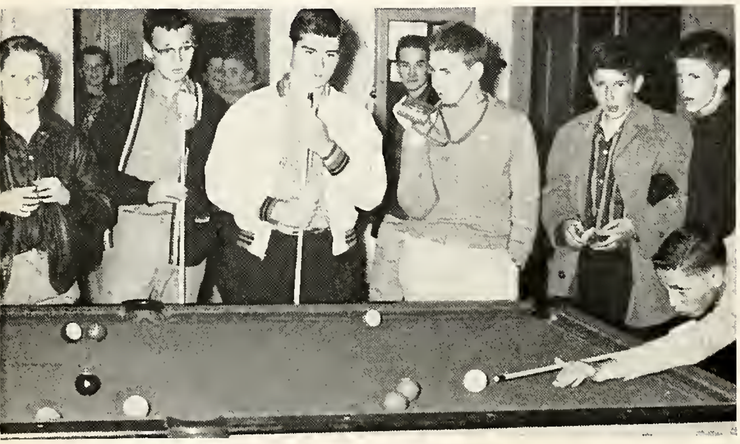
Frosh react quickly to demanding new life



"Reading maketh a full man; conference a ready man; and writing an exact man." As the freshman left home last fall to enter the strange new world of Campion, his father may have reminded him of the slogan, "Give Campion a boy and get back a man." The freshman soon realized that becoming a man makes many demands on one. Not least of these was the new emphasis on reading, on speaking before others, and on correct writing. Thus, according to Bacon, would he become a man.

The frosh set about attaining this demanding goal with amazing alacrity and success. After the formidable battery of placement exams and orientation talks during the first week, they settled down to a round of classes, homework, study halls, and tests. In this battle of the books Montanus took top honors with Gerut and Madda close behind. In the battle of brawn and brain, Abbot, Schmitt, Schiek, Bernardi, Quinn, DeMattia, and Kramer made the JV football team and Mallon, Schmitt, Murphy, Vorwald, and Abbot formed the victorious frosh basketball quintet. In the social world, leadership emerged as Abbott, Mitchell, Hollenhorst were elected officers.

Early-rising servers sacrificed to honor God

Senior servers use missals to pray the Mass with priest in one of 10 New Lawler side chapels.

The time is 5:40 a.m. The place is one of the various dormitories on campus. It is very dark and all the students are sleeping. Or are they? You listen closely and hear a stifled but animated conversation.

"Wake up, Joe. You serve this week."

"Huh? Oh, good enough. I'll be over in a minute."

A groggy Joe Campion then has to get out of bed, get dressed in the dark, tip-toe quietly out of the building, and make his way through the elements to new Lawler Hall. Here he is to serve one of the 30 daily masses on campus.

By the time Joe reaches the faculty building, he is wide-awake enough to turn his thoughts to God and the Holy Sacrifice. Spurred by the realization that the server is second in importance only to the priest, he uses his Missal to participate still more fully in the day's most important moments.

After Mass he helps hang up the priest's vestments, refills the cruets, and makes a brief but fervent thanksgiving. Following a deluxe breakfast of hot bacon and eggs, Joe returns to the prosaic aspects of Campion life; but his day is just a little more full because he realizes that he did just a little bit more for Christ.

Prayer apostolate spans life of all students

Several characteristics are common to every Campion Knight, such as a ferocious appetite, love of sleep, and a hearty dislike of jug. But of all Campion activities, the only one common to all Knights is the Apostleship of Prayer.

One of the major goals of the AP this year was a spirited Missa Recitata. After explaining each part of the Mass in 5-minute talks at Mass, AP moderator Mr. Moynihan practiced the "Recited Mass" in parts with the students and finally turned it over to the student prayer-leaders. The result was pleasant; all were praying and enjoying it.

Then before Christmas vacation the promoters asked their classmates to bring spiritual books from home for better retreat reading. The project was highly successful as students on the return "Special" were seen with books like Life is Worth Living and The Greatest Story Ever Told as well as the usual Life's and Post's.

all four years build good Catholic laymen

The late Pope Pius XII stated that "the Sodalities of our Lady were almost the greatest need in the Church today." The reason is that the Church depends on her laymen and the Sodality, "the school of personal holiness and the apostolate," exists to train leaders for the Church's apostolate.

With this in mind, the Campion Sodality began the year with a "refresher course." Till the feast of the Immaculate Conception. Dec. 8, sophomore, junior, and senior groups reviewed the essential four-fold sodality spirit under the formula DIAL: Devotion to Mary, Intense Interior life personal holiness through daily spiritual duties and a regular confessor). Active Apostolate, and Love and Loyalty to the Church in her missionary and social apostolates. Sodalists read and were tested on the rules, a sodality history, and Bis Saeculari, the apostolic constitution of Pius XII on sodalities. Then on Dec. 7, 125 sodalists made a day of recollection with four talks by Fr. Joseph Eagan, S.J., coordinator of the Campion Sodality, and a Holy Hour by Fr. John Wiggins, junior sodality moderator. The following day, 35 juniors and 30 seniors solemnly pronounced temporary acts of consecration to Mary.

The Campion Sodality of the Immaculate Conception is divided into four sections. The freshmen in three groups of 30 began probation after Christmas. The sophomores in three groups of 25 continued the probation. The juniors in three groups emphasized the missions and school apostolate and took temporary consecrations Dec. 8 and in May. The seniors in two groups studied the Church's social apostolate in five key areas of the press, entertainment, race, labor,and government. All units met weekly.

The humming of anxious voices is suddenly terminated as the rap of senior president Mike Oleskiewicz's gavel calls another student council meeting into session. After moderator Fr. Kalb leads the opening prayer, the three officers from each year and representatives from each junior and senior class section settle down to business and plan coming school events, listen to various suggestions for improving school spirit, and discuss administration plans for the future.

For facility in administration, the student council has been divided into three committees: Public Relations, Social Activities, and School Improvement. The first, headed by Jess Daffron, met visiting athletes, prepared cots for those staying overnight, and showed visitors the campus. Under Denis Walsh the Social Activities committee planned the homecoming dance and mixers. Tom Gay was the idea man for the School Improvement Section.

Governing council continues fine tradition

Radiant receptionist, student council representative Lardner, welcomes visiting basketball team to Campion.

When a teen-age combo creates a snappy number and then signs a preliminary contract with ABC to record it, that is news in the making. Campion's talented musicians in the persons of maestro Bill Valeri and the Squires did just that with "Timbo," their biggest hit of the first semester. The title is a corruption of the word "Tembo" meaning elephant in the land down under. The song's theme is formed from Bill's sax wailing out like a bull elephant.

The Squire's roll call included Bill Valeri and his golden sax, Tony Baldwin and his whining electric guitar, and "Bubbles" Benso in the percussion section. Occasionally Dave Zamierowski could be found adding a piano or an organ to the group.

The school became accustomed to seeing the Squires in their corner of the gym and to hearing them roll out their theme song, "Leapfrog," between halves of basketball games. Their versatile performances also included playing from the bandstand at the Juniors' and Seniors' mixers where they captured the popular fancy and provoked spontaneous applause.

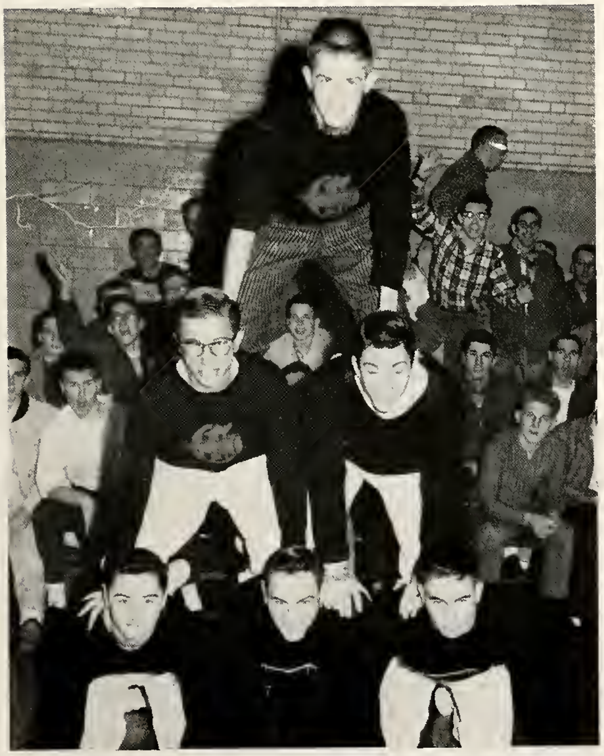
Pep band and cheerleaders kept spirit high



Enthusiasm Entreaters: Passon, C. Rassmussen, Zamierowski, Bain, Zylkowski, and Dixson.

Another tense battle for the Red Knights is about to begin; a thundering volume of noise swells up from the stands. Football, basketball, track, or baseball — season after season, the job of channeling the noise and controlling the volume falls to the cheerleaders. Theirs is the challenge of welding 500 rooters into one spirited unit behind the team in victory or defeat and in preserving sportsmanship even in frustrating and emotional situations. They form the vital link between the students and the team, and by their eloquent pleading bring out the best in Campion athletes.

This year the head of the cheerleaders was senior Pete Zylkowski, who led the senior cheering section. The junior vocal chords were coaxed to feverish pitch by Passon and Rasmussen. Zamierowski led the soph roars while Bain and Dixson handled the raucous frosh.

During the basketball season the cheerleaders introduced the new "Steal It" cheer in addition to perfecting the old standbys, the "Big CA" and the "Locomotive" cheers. The famous "Fight, Team, Fight" cheer was acted out this year by Dave Zamierowski and Phil Dixson, with Phil on the receiving end of the "punch." Joe Bongiorno led the stirring trumpet cheer.

With a completely rewired control system, over two thousand titles in its record library, and a staff overflowing with enthusiasm, VOC entertained the Knights this year as never before. From the daily newscasts, written by students in a style students appreciate, to the weekly features — a special intramural sports report or a personal interview with a big-name bandleader or famous campus visitor, this unique high school undertaking simulated an atmosphere of professionalism. Thus it afforded both enjoyable hours of listening pleasure and a practical opportunity for its personnel to gain valuable experience in the major phases of broadcast production.

Friendly, businesslike, and crowded—that's the speech room in Campion Hall. It's the headquarters of the school speech effort—the largest activity on campus, under the leadership of Fr. Thomas Hoffman, S.J., and assistants Fr. Jerome Bruenig, S.J., and Mr. Robert Hart, S.J.

Debate attracted more interest and energy than any other speech activity. The big names on the affirmative side were Dave Zamierowski, Tony Daly, and Austin Hyde, while the dissenters were Kent Farr, Mike Regan, and Paul Lachance. Campion participated in tournaments at West Bend, Kenosha, Eau Claire, LaCrosse, and Madison. A tournament was held at Campion, and the debaters engaged in single conflicts with Lancaster and Prairie du Chien. The "A" team took first place at the invitational tournament at West Bend on Nov. 15, and had a season record of 14 wins and 16 losses.

The whole school got into the speech picture in the annual intramural contest won by Gay, Dixson, M. Cavataio, and Lyons in senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman years.

Spring brought with it forensics and contests held on local, sectional, and state levels. Speakers sought the coveted "A" rating in eight categories. Campion speakers also entered the midwest Jesuit provinces' contest, and the Voice of Democracy, My True Security, and the American Legion contests.

"Say Father, do you realize you're sitting on the editor's desk?" says Editor Tom Gay to moderator Fr. Eagan.

Ask the average Campion lad about the Knight and he'll tell you it's the funny antics of photographer Bob Madigan and the thrill of that spring day when he receives his copy. But to the devoted seniors on it's staff, the Knight is a labyrinth of details and the constant challenge of originality and perfection. Editor Tom Gay buried himself under senior and academic section layouts while managing editor Bob Castellini struggled with the underclass and organization sections. Sports editor Dick Herdrich worried about action shots and sparkling copy for the varsity and leagues alike. Business-wise, Lee Fay and Jess Daffron hopefully sent out letters bearing financial appeals. Writing editor Joe Bongiorno returned copy to apprehensive journalists with laconic remarks like "rewrite," "get an angle," "more color words."

But when eventful March arrived, the editors sensed the end. Interest-catching captions and headlines were written; typists clattered out idents and rewrites; mountains of galleys were proofed and pasted into the final dummy. As presses whirred, a year-long dream was a reality.

find eloquent voice in bi-weekly Campionette

Every second Saturday sees a wonder of campus life — each student is actually anxious to begin study hall. He realizes that before the hour passes he will be flipping the pages of the official record of his successes and the preview of coming events, the Campionette. From Joe Bongiorno's and Tom Roderer's editorials on the front cover through Mike Regan's News and Views on to Jim Phillipp's comments on Campion grads, he finds the 'ette is page after page of news and entertainment. He'll pause to smile at one of Tony Daly's catchy picture captions or stop short in amazement as he sees his name in Dick Herdrich's intramural league rundown. And thrilling it is a week later for his parents as they turn its glossy leaves, enjoying a few minutes of Campion life.

But for the editors, there was the consternation stemming from the bi-weekly headache of late copy and the monotony of long Wednesday afternoons spent dressing up the articles for press. But all was forgotten in the satisfaction of each new issue and the consequent pride with which they began planning the next.

Marching, inspection, drill tours -- memories

The introduction of this book led us back into the glorious history of the Campion ROTC units; and this year's battalion was right in keeping with the crack units of the past. From the first drill periods in September until the last in May, the battalion showed the snap and precision characteristic of a red star outfit. After a couple months of sifting the leading seniors, the battalion staff, the student military hierarchy, was chosen. The cadet officers were Lt. Col. Walsh, Battalion Commander; Maj. Daffron, Adjutant; Maj. Eck, Executive; Capt. Chatel, S-4; and Sgt. Dixson, Sergeant Major. As soon as the snows had lifted, the battalion, under the staff, prepared for the crucial day in May when the red star was again defended.

But all ROTC is not compulsory. From the battalion's sharp-eyed squirrel hunters, Rifle Team coach Sgt. Pinard picked the best to form an experienced team. Against Reedsburg high school's rifle club the first team set a new five-man team record for Campion of 911 out of a possible 1,000 in the four standard positions. DeMeyer and Bergstrom each fired 187; Heying placed third with 182, Schlack fourth with 179, and Novey fifth with 176. Another school record was the 193 out of a possible 200 in the four positions fired by DeMeyer and Bergstrom. DeMeyer fired 192 out of 200 in the William Randolph Hearst national rifle match to tie the match's all-time high score.

There is yet another voluntary military activity at Campion. For cadets who don't get enough drill on Monday afternoons, the Drill Team, managed by Sgt. Ziegler, allows these boys to satisfy their desire for precision marching. In public appearances these drill experts demonstrated their mastery of the Queen Anne Salute, "to the winds," and other maneuvers.

But of all military activities, the most popular is the Military Ball. Students who were working on the lights and decorations finally finished their monumental task mere minutes before the ball started. For a night the versatile dining hall worked to create an ever better Campion

This year saw a change in the administrative organization of the various parents' clubs. All the various mothers' clubs have been united into one Campion Mothers' Club, and the fathers into the Chicago Fathers' Club. And since one fourth of the Campion students are from Illinois and the majority of these hail from the mighty Chicagoland area, Chicago is the natural "headquarters" of these clubs.

The Mothers' Club, energetically and wittily presidented by Mrs. Leland C. Fay, started the year off with a splash in August by sponsoring the splash party for incoming freshmen. They again went into action over homecoming weekend in October when chairmen Mrs. Herbert E. Schmitz and Mrs. C. M. Franz took charge of the food and smooth running of the annual carnival. February found the Mothers' Club giving financial aid to the Military Ball project; and spring was really touched off when Mrs. Walter T. Popjoy and Mrs. Richard G. Reichle headed the committee which arranged and executed the gala social event of the year, the annual spring-luncheon fashion-show in the ritzy Drake Hotel in Chicago. Besides attending to the fore-mentioned time-consuming activities, this active group of women found time for a monthly luncheon-meeting in Marshall Fields to hear talks by Campion faculty members, to report on projects, and to plan future events.

Thanks to their president Mr. Walter T. Popjoy the members of the Fathers' Club had a most interesting and busy year. They met once a month at the stylish Illinois Athletic Club for dinner-meetings where they were also treated to speeches by Campion faculty members, often accompanied by the showing of movies. These talks concerned anything from "college admission problems" to "development of your son's character." The fathers also shared the brunt of the work of Campion's homecoming carnival and put on the rip-roaring party afterwards for parents and faculty members at Prairie du Chien's VFW Club Rooms. Spring brought a novel plan for an Easter-vacation dance which developed into the April 5th swimming-party, dinner-dance held at Chicago's swank Lake Shore Club. The amount of work done by Mr. John C. Voosen and his committee to make this a great success was monumental and appreciated by the students and their guests.

Students enjoyed exciting winter hobbies

"Come in Moscow." Ham radio operators while away leisure hours passing time of day with friend Nikita.

Plug headphones into a Hammerlund HQ 140 receiver, a mike into a Lysco 60 watt transmitter, hook both to an antenna on the roof, and you have the beginning of one of the world's most interesting hobbies. Add half a dozen Knights and you have the Ham Club. Between the last 73 and the next CQ these amateurs chewed the rag about gadgets to spruce up the "rig."

A newcomer to Campion's winter activities was the Ski Club. Organized to chop down trees and manicure a large bluff area for a new ski run, its members reveled in the healthful Wisconsin air on many a long afternoon and survived many an icy tumble on the snowpadded bluffs.

Indoors again, the Hobby Shop was the perennial proof that "Busy boys are happy boys." This favorite hangout where Jr. Divvers escaped the wintry zephyrs found frosh smoothing down model cars or even taking a crack at oil portraits. For an hour each afternoon moderator Mr. Golden assumed the triple role of master carpenter, mechanic, and paint-dauber, ever lending a helping hand to young enthusiasts.

Hollywood heirs combine drama and humor

To the sound of thunderous applause from the audience, the youthful thespians take their last curtain call. Sadly they troop backstage to remove their makeup. Another Masquer season is over. As moderator Fr. Higgins reviews the "season," he recalls that this year his productions emphasized comedy. "Jupiter-C Baloon," starring Bob Zwaska, Bob Rasmussen, and John Schulien, was a satirical story of the launching of the Campion homecoming "satellite." Pre-Christmas "Dress Rehearsal," starred Bill Thiede, Frank Krauser, Mike Flynn, and Barney Fallon in the story of a typical practice session of a high-school dramatic society. In March, Fr. Higgins presented "Sic Semper Tyrannis," a parody on Shakespeare by Bob Rasmussen, Mike Reineck, and Bob Blondis. A new Masquer feature before the weekly Sunday night movies was clever pantomimes on Stan Freeberg records and "The Old Philosopher" by Bob Rasmussen, Mike Reineck, and Bob Lownik, who delighted their audience with their hilarious antics.

"Waiter! Six dozen pieces of toast and four pounds of butter."

"Yes, sir! Coming right up!" And in a few moments the beaming Campion students are enjoying a breakfast of buttered toast, procured by the capable waiters of dining hall prefect Mr. Rynes, S.J. Come noontime, and the same waiters, transferred to the service room, smilingly pour the gravy on the cherry pie. At supper, they put it on the ice cream. Besides serving the food, these industrious workers have other duties, such as polishing the silver and washing the tables. The responsibility of preparing the dining hall for the next invasion of the student body is entirely under the supervision of Mr. Rynes's student bosses, Lehman and Pfab.

But the dining hall is not the only place on campus where a starving boy can satisfy his unappeasable appetite. Between 2:40 and 3:30 every weekday afternoon, Bro. Stockley and his faithful helpers open up the Campion Cafe. The store presents many choice delicacies — popsicles, dairy whip, crackers, and the like — for the hungry Knights to choose from. Here they also can buy the black socks and shoe polish necessary to keep them in the good graces of the Military Department, the bracelets and charms for the "girl back home," and all the odds and ends of Campion life.

two-platoon strategy

Thirty-three football hopefuls stepped from the Zephyr on a hot August day two weeks before school started to begin conditioning for the 1958 football season. Their work was cut out for them; a tough nine-game schedule included the number one teams in Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Iowa.

Work they did; and in the opening game of the season on Hoffman Field it was the combination of hard-running backs and a solid defense that defeated Central of La Crosse, 7-0. Twice the slashing drives of Rink, Kuchenbecker, and Kearns drove to the one and three yard lines only to be nullified by fumbles. However, the crunching power of the Knights which surged 244 yards wasn't to be denied as Rink smashed over tackle for seven yards and victory.

With one victory under their belts, the Knights and thirty avid, Iowa-born rooters took to the Iowa highways for their second victory, 21-13, over Cedar Rapids Regis. The determined Knights took the opening kickoff and in eleven plays crashed over. The same formula, an overpowering ground attack which rolled up 183 yards, netted two TDs. But Regis capitalizing on a weak pass defense took to the air and narrowed the gap with two touchdowns. Highlights for Campion were Jim Rink's 55-yard punt return and Bob Cline's 20-yard end-around.

In Wausau the following Saturday night, it was strictly a movie finish. With 14 seconds left, the scoreboard read: Campion 21, Newman 21. Grieshop flipped a screen pass to Cline; Cline paused, glanced downfield and calmly fired a 34-yard TD pass to Jim Reedy. Workhorses of the Knights' offense were Gerry Kuchenbecker with 41 yards in 8 carries and John Hubbard with 53 yards in 8. The victory, however, proved costly as Kuchenbecker was injured and lost to the squad for the next four games.

Boasting a 3 and 0 record, the Knights were somewhat in the clouds as they prepared to meet nemesis Edgewood at Madison. But they were quickly brought to earth by the Crusaders' potent aerial attack and their own inability to move the ball as the Knights suffered the first setback of the season, 19-0. Finally, in the fourth quarter, Campion found the right combination of passing and rushing and twice drove within the Edgewood 30, only to be stopped by interceptions. Even in defeat, the work of Dave Kraemer and Bob Cline shone.

With the team back home again after three road games, the campus became a scene of snake dances and spirited cheers for the battle with arch-rival, the Loras Golden Gubs, the top-ranked team in Iowa. Hope mounted that the Knights would finally break the 13 year "Loras jinx" when on the third play from scrimmage Grieshop hit Dave Kraemer with a 75-yard tackle-eligible TD pass. But the Knights, though outgaining the Gubs 279-205 yards, couldn't hold the mammoth Loras line and bull-like rushing of Ruden and lost 39-18 in a savage, free-scoring game.

After dropping the two preceding tilts, the Knights were determined to redeem themselves. But the gala Homecoming crowd was dumbfounded as Bob Schroeder of Menominee took the opening kick and raced 65-yards for a TD. Menominee's speedy backs accounted for another TD before the Knights slashed back as Grieshop's mighty arm fired seven passes for 161 yards, Bob Cline caught five passes for 72-yards, and Tom Kearns peeled off 35-yards in four carries for a tremendous comeback victory, 24-13.

A fired-up Aquinas squad and their Homecoming crowd were not to be denied the following Thursday at La Crosse when the Red Knights fell to the powerful Blugolds, 14-0. The swift thrusts of All-State halfback Voss put Aquinas ahead 7-0 in the first half. Aquinas sealed the game in the fourth quarter by stopping the Knights on the two-yard line and then slowly grinding out the insurance TD. Pluemer and Panther starred on defense for the evening.

Dogged fight and fierce desire marked the Knights' finest game against the powerful Minnesota state champions, Cretin of St. Paul, on rain-soaked Hoffman field. Campion's line, charging as never before, set up the first TD by pushing Cretin back to the six where Kraemer stole a pitchout to score. Stopped on the ground, Cretin retaliated on a pass-defense lapse to go ahead 7-6 when a Cretin back, apparently trapped, wriggled loose to heave a 40-yard TD pass. But Lady Luck smiled in the third quarter as O'Hara intercepted a pass and galloped 43-yards for a TD. Two ferocious goal line stands held Cretin till with two minutes left the St. Paul team crashed over to win 14-12. Jim Gallagher turned in a brilliant performance with 14 tackles.

Still fired up from the Cretin battle, the Knights faced the season's finale determined to achieve a winning season at the expense of LaCrosse Logan. Hubbard tallied from the 28 on a pass from Grieshop, Kuchenbecker crashed over from the four, and Rink spun across on a pass from Grieshop to quickly pile up a 19-0 half time lead. The Knights topped the game off when Grieshop hit Kuchenbecker with a 35-yard pass and "Kuch" lateraled to Hubbard who dashed into the end zone to wrap up the 26-7 victory and a 5-4 season record.

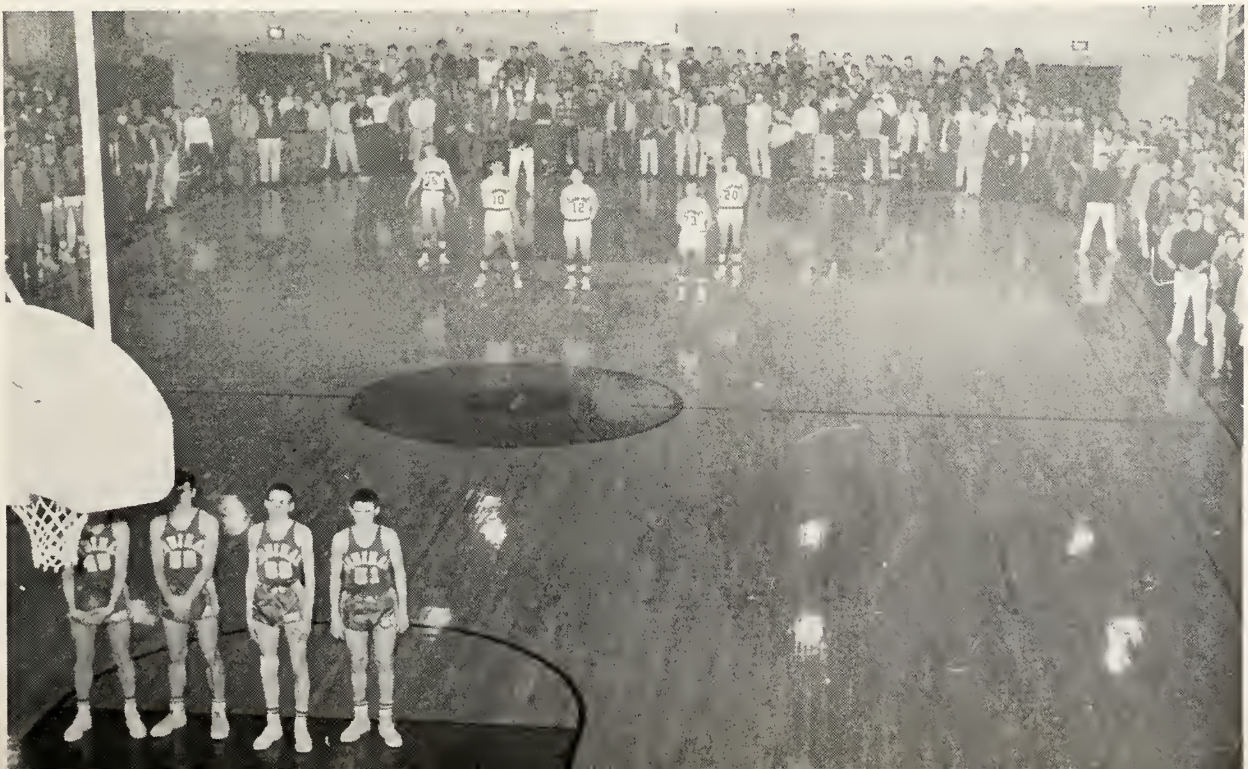
squad faced rebuilding job for tough season

All-State Honorable Mention, guard Gerry Kuchenbecker.

Co-Captain Denny Walsh controlled team's strategy from guard position.

Forward Ken Frauenfelder, Co-Captain, hit hot .786 from charity line.

Calm before the storm—solemn pre-game ceremony grips the gym before the Aquinas tilt.



Speedy start showed

Campion's varsity gym awoke from its six-month hibernation as early November heard the rejuvenating slap of basketball on polished yellow oak ushering in another hardwood season. This steady drone was symbolic of Coach Peterson's most pressing problem—that of replacing last year's all-senior championship team and rebuilding around only three lettermen, Walsh, Frauenfelder, and Kuchenbecker.

In the season's opener at St. John's the team proved themselves under fire. Going into the final quarter trailing by four points, the Knights rallied to overtake the taller Milwaukee team and returned home with an encouraging 50-45 victory. Following a similar 49-45 victory at Dyersville Xavier, the Knights made their home appearance against Lancaster, impressing the student body with a torrid .498 from the field that completely buried the stubborn Flying Arrows 77-50.

After waltzing past Aquinas 42-23, the Knights tasted their first defeat at the hands of ancient rival Loras Academy of Dubuque, 55-45. Though Gerry Kuchenbecker hit for 21 points and the team played its heart out for the entire game, the promise for the future

inspired Gubs and their home court advantage proved too much for the Knights. However, Campion immediately recovered and surged back with victories over Assumption 59-37 and Eau Claire Regis 70-41.

With their record standing at an impressive six victories to one defeat, the Knights clashed with Cedar Rapids Regis, Iowa's best Catholic team. The fact that the Royals had recently walked over Loras 53-37 coupled with an untimely injury to Gerry Kuchenbecker presented a bleak pre-game outlook. However, with the unrestrained and inspiring backing of the student body, the Knights squeezed out a 62-59 upset behind Mike Mallon's 28 point effort and four clutch free throws by Co-Captain Denis Walsh in the final minute.

After the previous night's tremendous victory the Knights were both physically and psychologically ripe for the upset-minded Newman five. A brilliant 33 point shooting exhibition by Jack Koltes, who connected on nine of his last 11 attempts, turned the trick for the Cardinals in a 67-61 upset. Thus the Knights were handed their only home court defeat of the season, but they still maintained an impressive 7-2 record, and Campion's basketball future looked bright as the students boarded the Zephyr for the Christmas Holidays.

However, when the Knights returned from the long Christmas vacation there was something missing—something intangible which had made them click so precisely as a team before the holidays.

At first it wasn't readily apparent as Frauenfelder and Kuchenbecker led the Knights to convincing victories over Stevens Point Pacelli 66-52 and Cotter 65-50, but then on the weekend trip of January 18th the roof fell in on the Knights. They were soundly defeated by the future conference co-champions. Pacelli, 73-56, the same Pacelli they had beaten six days earilier; and on the following afternoon lost a heartbreaker to Assumption 58-57, wiping out any hopes for a third straight CWCC title. The Knights seemed to bounce back with easy victories over Columbus 73-43 and Xavier 65-51, but in the return match at Cedar Rapids Regis they were completely outplayed 62-44. The only bright spot for the Knights was the promise shown by Chuck Miller as he accounted for one-half of the Knights' scoring.

spoiled brilliant but sporadic performances

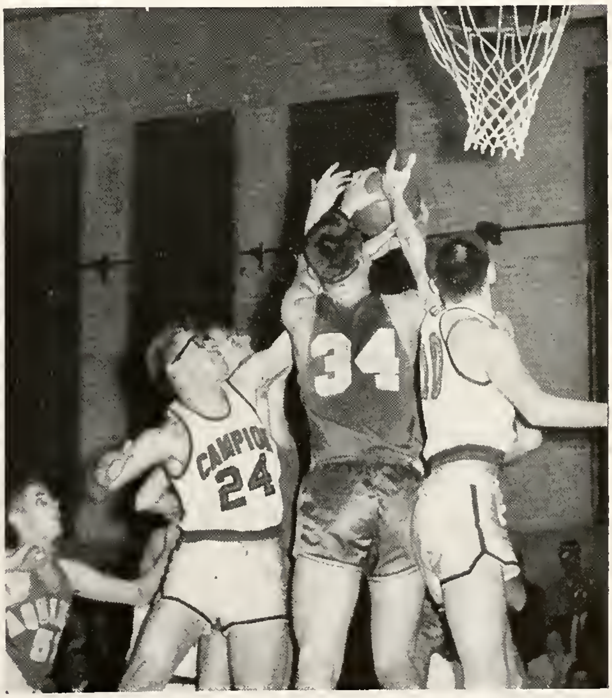
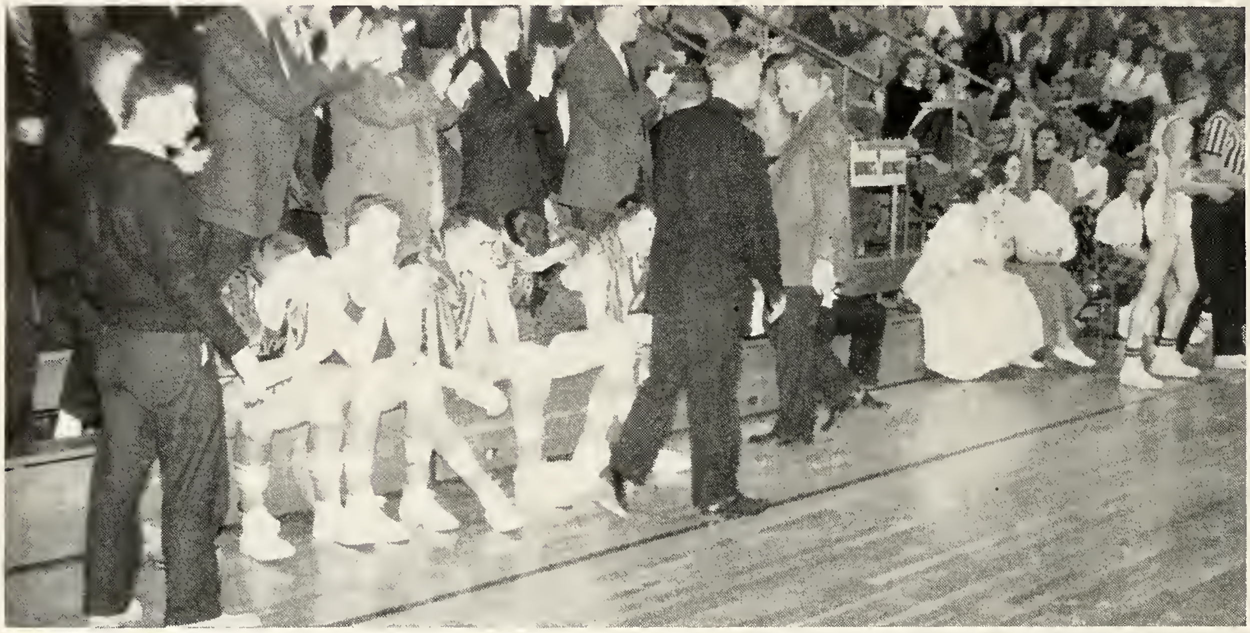
Against Garnavillo, Coach Peterson started an all junior quintet which romped to an easy 67-46 victory. This last game, linked with successive victories over Aquinas 49-33, Columbus 67-55, and Newman 63-49, renewed hope that the Knights had once again hit their stride. But their morale suffered a serious setback when they were soundly beaten away from home by two teams which they had previously handled with ease. Cotter had little trouble in disposing of the Knights 68-54, and five days later Campion put up even less resistance to a 66-53 shellacking by Eau Clarie Regis.

But all the recent inconsistency was forgotten when the Knights took on a proud and haughty Loras team and completely humbled them in a 68-45 rout. Campion played like a team possessed--and possessed it was with desire. It was the last time in history these two rivals were to meet, and the Knights, from the opening tip, couldn't be denied their sweetest triumph of the season. This crucial victory was a team effort in the truest sense of the word as Co-Captain Ken Frauenfelder led with 22 points while Miller, Mallon, and Kuchenbecker hit in the double figures.



Mad scramble under boards typifies fierce 25-year rivalry between Campion and La Crosse Aquinas.

Stunning regional loss sours 17-8 record



Dejected bench at regional. Cheering seniors (standing) and Coach Peterson (gesturing) soon fired thrilling rally.

After easing past Lima Sacred Heart 65-41 in the opening round of the regional tourney, the Knights looked like shoo-ins for a third straight title, with Aquinas the one remaining hurdle for a state tournament berth. But the hurdle was too high. Campion fell behind 15-1 and 23-5, staged a fighting comeback to go ahead 42-41 and built up a seven point lead with three minutes to go, only to lose 65-64 on a furious Bluegold finish. It was a disappointing finish for a team which at times showed flashes of greatness but could never play with the consistency of a true champion.

JV's gain experience for varsity campaigns

Adding two more, Nesler goes high above Aquinas rivals for easy tip in losing battle.

A discouraging 3-9 pre-Christmas record and an encouraging 11-9 tally after the holidays is the story of this year's Sophomore Team coached by Fr. Walter Hallorand, S.J. No one player stood out as Fr. Halloran gave all a chance to play to gain experience. However, as midseason drew near, the starting line-up became set with Garrity, Cavataio, Nesler, Holm, Nugent, and McGargill winning starting berths. The team came on fast thanks to McGargill's rebounding, Holm's deadly out-court shooting, Nesler's hooking and rebounding, and Cavataio's scoring and aggressive play to win 8 of their last 10 games.

While the Sophs compiled a mediocre record, the Freshman Team under the watchful eye of Mr. Wambach, S.J., rolled up a definitely impressive record of 18 wins and three defeats. The team won without razzle-dazzle but depended on solid fundamentals and a few simple plays. Six foot one inch Dennis Vorwald was the big man under the boards, but he received valuable assistance from Tom Abbott and John Schmitt. Joe Murphy and Jim Mallon were the two guards who set up the plays and controlled the strategy.

Winter wonderful! smooth ice, deep snow,

Hot hockey action on cold winter afternoons.

The sound of wind in his ears, the spray of snow in his face, and the clash of hockey sticks were experiences Campion students enjoyed this winter. Three features — an enlarged hockey rink, a new ski run, and 50 inches of snow provided students with wide-spread opportunities for winter sports, including skiing, skating, and tobogganing.

The new hockey rink saw brisk action as Bowlen's team copped the Junior Div. hockey title and Lou Molepske's sextet were the champion puck pushers in Senior Div. But a short jaunt away to the bluffs was the 500 foot ski-run made possible by the generosity of soph-parent Mr. Frank Kaulig. Here Fr. Eagan's Ski Club felled trees, cleared out stones and stumps, and raked smooth the 500 foot groove hewn out of the bluffs by a giant bulldozer. At the very top of the slide, Fr. Kalb began a cinder-block ski lodge aided by enthusiastic mortar-mixing students.

Strong moundsmen and powerful long-ball

To start the season, Chuck Miller baffled Loras with 15 strikeouts and a 9-0 no-hitter which was saved with a brilliant play by Phalen in the seventh. In the second game, pitchers Jim Rink and Ken Frauenfelder teamed to down Prairie du Chien, 8-1, allowing only three hits. Mike Pluemer hit 3 for 3 and versatile Miller, playing first, smashed a two-run homer. Over Aquinas, Frauenfelder came on in relief of Miller to gain a 15-8 win, aided by his own two-run triple and Bob Cline's two run homer. Southpaw Jim Rink made it 4-0 with a brilliant 7-0 shut-out pitching gem over Plain, and Miller boosted the record to 5-0 with a three hit 4-1 win over La Crosse Central. Ken Frauenfelder gave up three hits and fanned six in a 15-0 win over Richland Center. Win number seven went to Jim Rink over Dyersville Xavier 15-2.

Comes spring and the Campion man's fancy is likely to turn to (among other things) golf and tennis. The current golf team consisted of juniors Mike Mallon, Fitzgerald, and Dooley, and senior Mike Chatel on the first team and freshmen Jim Mallon, Roger Thomas, Dan Earls, and soph John Lopez on the second unit. After trouncing Aquinas, 9½ to 2½, and losing to La Crosse Central 8-4, the team looked forward to two other home-and-home matches against Logan and Loras and a single match against Richland Center.

Mr. Moynihan's first year as tennis coach set him busy trying to fill the spots vacated by last year's all senior team. The single matches were handled by a trio of Juniors: Sheridan, Pete Carey, and John Hubbard, while seniors Monosmith and Knapp and sophs Jestel and Mills formed the first and second doubles' teams. Matches scheduled were a pair against both Loras and La Crosse Central and a single home match with Onalaska.

Senior Division A League, besides being the roughest of the football leagues, was also the one with the closest race. Moffitt's team lost its first game to Castellini, who took the first round with a spotless 5-0 record. Moffitt then went to town as he vindicated his earlier loss to Castellini and swept the second round. In the rain-dampened championship game, Moffitt suddenly found spirit after trailing for three quarters to cop the trophy, 13-7.

Although Al Lopez's team managed to post a perfect slate, Senior Div. B League was not quite the runaway his 10-0 record seems to indicate. In the first round, Lopez's team had to go three overtime periods before beating Duffy's team, 13-12. (In overtimes each team got a chance to score from the five-yard line.) In the second round Lopez brushed past Duffy only to encounter the spirited team of Dick Weis, and was hard pressed to haul out a 13-7 win and take the crown.

Jim Moynihan's eleven, with a trick up its sleeve on every play, tied up the first round in Senior Div. C League with a playoff victory over John Miesen's boys. However, this all changed as Miesen came back fighting and contained all opposition with a stalwart defense to sweep the second round. In the playoff game the great conflict was no contest as Miesen ground out a 26-6 victory.

Over in the "small yard," enthusiasm took the place of experience as many a junior divver had his first taste of league football. In Junior Div. A League, Tim Phillips wrapped up the first round with a 4-0 record. However, in the second and final round everyone was astounded by the comeback of Bill Bernardi's team which had finished in the cellar in the first round. With the trophy at stake in their meeting, Phillips came from behind with a 32 point burst in the fourth quarter to take the game, the round, and the trophy.

In Junior Div. B league it was George Blaha's team all the way as he bowled over all opposition to chalk up a 12-0 record. George's only real threat came from the team of Roger Thomas; however, a well-balanced attack featuring the running of Bill Frankfurt proved to be the deciding factor in clinching the trophy.

In Junior Div. C League were gathered the smallest fellows on campus but their battles were some of the biggest and the best. In competition that was balanced and fierce, Leo Lynn's team finished on top in both rounds. It appeared to be team speed and the powerful running of John Nuccio that turned the trick.

Winter brought exciting basketball leagues

With Mr. Hart, S.J., at the helm, the C.I.L. (Campion Intramural Leagues with the lofty purpose of teaching sportsmanship and providing exercises and recreation for all) had an exciting basketball season.

In A league, Tom Boroker's team was the early favorite and first round winner mainly because of the excellent backcourt play of Dave Dickerson. Although George Parker and John Voosen stood out, it was team balance that enabled Joe Justman's team to take the second round and the title with a victory over Boroker. In B league John Harrington's quintet came out on top in the first round. Jim Holloran led his team to the second round winner's circle but lost the playoff with Harrington's team. The only C.I.L. team to come out ahead in both rounds was that of Ed Fanning. A balanced attack proved to be the secret formula for Ed's squad in copping C league's title. Bolstered by the efforts of Tom Langenfeld and Bob Wilberscheid in D league, Dennis Nowicki's team came from behind to take the second round and the title from Mike McErlean's team, the first round winner. Ed Fuchs's team took the first round of E league; but a team of town students, captained by Don Mercer and led by "Zip" Zable, took the second round and beat Fuchs in the playoff.

In the "Small Yard," A league was ruled over by Gerry Moore's team which took both rounds. Ron Jerrick of the winners was named "most valuable" in the league. John Grauel's team with a fine effort by Dick Kimberly, swept both rounds in B league for the title. Mike Cooper won the "most valuable" award for the league. C league had more of a race as Steve Johnson and Chris Roll each won a round. Johnson's team won the playoff as Don Douglas of the winners was "most valuable."

Various tournaments were held in both divisions during the time of the big snows to liven up the life of the Knights. These tourneys included pool, ping pong, billiards, chess, bowling, and a free throw contest.

Jr. Div. C League Basketball Champs. Kneeling: Simon, Standing: Lyons, Nuccio, Johnson, Douglas.

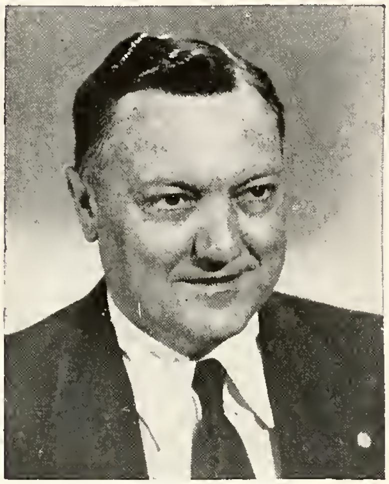
In Grateful Memory



Mr. Paul F. Glynn
Assistant Treasurer, 1936-1959

A typical pose as students saw him.

On April 11, 1959, cancer claimed the life of genial Paul Glynn, Campion's assistant treasurer for 23 years. He was born on May 13, 1902, attended Campion for eight years, graduating from the high school in 1921 and the college in 1925. After finishing his studies at the Business Administration School of Marquette University, he became a member of the Campion family in the fall of 1936. Rev. Paul Murphy, S.J., his associate as treasurer and his close friend, characterized Mr. Glynn as "most loyal, ever pleasant, a very outstanding Catholic gentleman, a great loss to Campion." Campion students will remember his unfailing friendliness, courtesy, and helpfulness. Little did they realize that his continual cheerfulness and optimism was despite suffering, for his wife died in January, 1942, and he reared, with the aid of his sister, his six children: his daughter Mary, and five sons all of whom attended Campion: Richard '45, James '49, and Timothy, Thomas, and Terrence, all '60. All of Campion, faculty and students, extend their deepest sympathy to his children, to his sister Dorothy, and his brothers, Rev. Donald C. Glynn, C.S.V., Lloyd, and Raymond.

The word you've been waiting for

NOW! That's probably the signal you've been waiting to hear . . . a shout that means the end of the school year, and that the pleasures and enjoyment of summer vacation are about to begin.

To some of you at Campion High the end of the school year is the beginning of three months of pleasure, relaxation, or a summer job, and then back to school. To others of you it means the start of an entirely new way of life. What will it be? On to college, the beginning of a working career, marriage, or what? Whatever path you choose to follow you can be sure that there's a bright future ahead for each of you in the exciting world of our atomic age. And, as in the past, Reddy Kilowatt, who lighted your study table, kept you comfortable in winter's cold and summer's heat, and provided entertainment when you weren't "hitting the books", will continue to serve you faithfully in the future. Congratulations seniors, and good luck from Reddy Kilowatt, and your electric company.

Knight Staff Reveries

Although our business staff worked very hard to pay for our yearbook and succeeded, we still found ourselves with one empty page in the advertisement section. So for lack of anything better to do, we editors decided to jot down on this page some of the often-heard expressions from the Knight staff at work in the Marquette Hall basement room we fondly call The "Knight-room," or as some spell it, "night room." Some expressions you will recognize, but many you are not expected to understand. In short, we have taken the luxury of dedicating one page to ourselves and our happy memories.

"BOY!!!"

"Oh that Fay character! . . . And that Herdrich! We've always had one, but this year we've got two."

"All right, people, now listen here. This is the editor-in-chief speaking."

"Whaaahaaahaaahaaalll."

"Say now Tom, I mean you're the Editor. Let's just drop the vague generalities. I mean, I don't want to know ABOUT how many heads are left, I want to know HOW MANY heads are left. 'Cause I mean you're the editor. So let's just drop the vague generalities. I mean . . . "

"Yah! I from Hibbing. I fight you."

"Rocky was weak in the beginning, but, boy! he has really come through in fine style."

"Yes! my love!"

"Mah daddy makes twenty millimeter stainless steel cartridge cases."

"Say, Bonge, how about 8000 words on the ski run?"

"Hey, Denny, how would you like to come up to the second floor?"

"Rusty autumn changed to . . . And then came the blossoming spring."

"Do we have to run twenty pages on the ski-club?"

"What's the skinny with all this seed down here?"

"Oh that Goren! I don't care what he says! You know you should have finessed that queen, Jess!"

"Oh Phoebe, you lovely little web-footed duckling you!"

"You're late Eck." (11:0001) "So what, Father Dean?" "So you got a jug."

"Gee! I'm sorry I'm late but I just had to go out to track practice. Gotta get BACK in shape you know."

"What do you say we go and wrap things up?"

In first annual "Knight of the Year" award,

> "I have always pictured myself as a leader, a knight in shining armor, fighting for the good causes of God and man. To be a knight a man must have had to pass many a test. . . . When a man graduates from Campion, he should be a true Campion Knight and live by the Christian principles he has learned at this school."
> (taken from a theme by a Campion senior, April, 1959)

These words provided the idea and the inspiration to inaugurate the first annual "KNIGHT of the Year" award. The students themselves — seniors only — did the selecting. They received the following letter explaining the award and suggesting norms to guide them in their choice.

"Dear Senior:

Each year at graduation many individual awards are handed out to seniors; many of them have been decided by a vote of the faculty. But never has an award been given to a student chosen just by one's fellow-students who have known him intimately for four years. Consequently, the Knight staff decided to start the unique "KNIGHT of the Year" award to honor the outstanding senior chosen by his fellow seniors.

This is NOT a popularity contest, NOR an award merely for the outstanding athlete or student. But it is an award for that senior who, in the eyes of his fellow-students, best exemplifies the qualities all look for in "a Campion MAN," or a "Campion KNIGHT." We have deliberately set the standards high so that this will be a genuinely coveted award.

The two main norms in your choice will be:

1— his over-all Catholic and manly character;

2— his contribution to his school while he was here.

Since the knight was a model to the medieval man of all the Christian virtues, the following are suggested as the traditional knightly qualities which the "KNIGHT of the Year" ought to possess in some way:

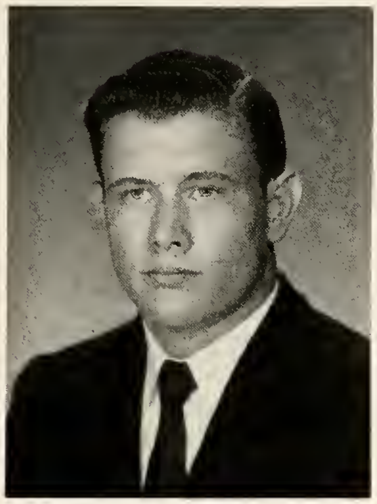
Courage, i.e., perseverance and determination in all undertakings, especially studies, extracurriculars, and sports.
Loyalty, i.e., to his Catholic Faith, his school, his parents, his friends.
Generosity, i.e., unselfishness and cooperation to his school (true school spirit) as member of teams or activities and to other students.
Fidelity to his word, i.e., trustworthiness, honesty.
Chastity, i.e., wholesome moral life.
Maturity, i.e., of outlook, of emotional control, of action.
Integrity, i.e., over-all character worth and good example.

Therefore I choose ____________________ for the following reasons:

We ask each of you to think over your choice, to be sincere and conscientious, not to be prejudiced for or against anyone. Please live up to our faith in your judgment and responsibility.

Thank you,
The KNIGHT staff

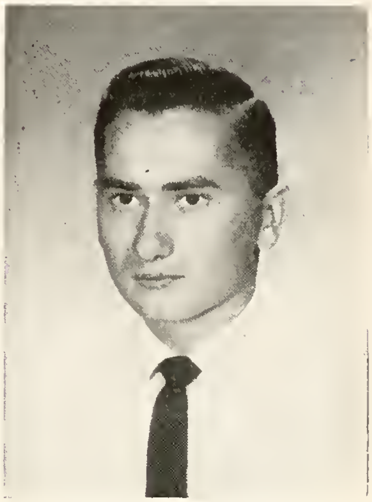
seniors choose Daffron and Oleszkiewicz



Jesse L. Daffron, from Fabens, Texas, is a member of the Classical Honors course wherein he has achieved an 88.2 4-year average, is prefect of the Sodality, a cadet major in ROTC, and business editor for the Knight.

CO-KNIGHTS of the Year

Owing to a tie in the voting, we bow to the will of the seniors (each of the two co-knights polled twice as many votes as the runner-up senior) and thus honor two very deserving Campion men.



Michael J. Oleszkiewicz from Riverside, Illinois, is a member of the Latin Scientific course, has merited a 4-year average of 86.1, is president of the senior class, is a Sodalist, and is cadet captain in ROTC.

Tributes of Seniors to their CO-KNIGHTS

JESS DAFFRON

Because in all the four years he has stood out as a student who had a mature outlook on his studies. He was never afraid to turn away from a conversation not to his liking.

He has stuck to the rules of the school, even if he had to speak out against some of the more popular students. He is recognized by the school and also the student body as being one of the leaders in our class. Better than all this, he's a friend to the least ,to everyone here at Campion.

Since our freshman year he has always been an individual. By this I mean that he was never fearful to go against the crowd. But he was always pushing for the group, whether it be on the athletic field, around the student council table, on the drill field, or in the classroom. He has always shown in my mind maturity by his attitudes which he held when things just didn't go his way.

I thing Jess is the prime example of the slogan "give Campion a boy and get back a man." I think during the past four years Jess has used the chances for study, religion, and other activities to the utmost. He has worked for the school with true spirit. He is friendly to everyone, and his constant spirit of happiness at some time or other must have made someone happy.

I think that Jess fulfills all these requirements. He is the man that I would most like to be like. The money spent on his education was a wise investment for he is an example of a true Campion man.

Jess to me is the top-notch Knight around here. He does his best in all of his undertakings and has a mature and a realistic outlook on life. Spiritually there is no question. In studies and sports he gives his all. He not only, in embodying the qualities described, sets a magnificent example for Campion's underclassmen, but he also is a credit to his school and a first class representative of Campion to anyone that he meets.

As long as I have known Jess he has impressed me with his actions. He has a clean mouth and is courteous, even to fellow students. When he heads an activity, he sees the job through. He has a mature and Catholic attitude on things. He is the type of man I, and others, show respect to and admire. He is not afraid to be a real man even if it calls for forfeiting "human respect" as it is called.

MIKE OLESZKIEWICZ

I think this man fully possesses all of the qualities mentioned above; and I believe he has attained the most valuable gift Campion can give — the gift of being a man. After four years I believe Mike has proved himself to be a very mature, good-natured, and wholesome individual. He is a perfect example of how you can let all the inspiration of the activities of Campion flow out through your character and personality.

These are my feelings. He is the person I would choose, if I had the chance, as my closest friend for life. Need more be said?

He is a man of fine character who has the school spirit in his mind always. He's open minded and willing to listen to arguments. He is a man of fine moral character and always tries to be a good example. He is independent yet social minded.

For the four years since I have been here Mike has put everything he had into every activity he participated in. He has never done anything that was a bad example for the rest of the students; in fact he always tried to do something good.

He has never made anyone feel out of place or degraded anyone. He has done a lot for our school, especially for the seniors. He has thought of the rights and feelings of others and not his own. He doesn't show off or make himself look big to others. He appears very well in any company and makes one feel as if he is wanted. He is a leader, a man of good Catholic character, and above all — a gentleman.
